SON DROWNS IN SIGHT OF FATHER

Hanover Youth Was Posing Before Camera in Conewago Creek.

FATHER DIVED IN VAIN

Efforts to Resuscitate Henry Abel Were in Vain. Was Under Water Only Twenty Five Minutes.

"Look father its getting deeper." Henry Abel, sixteen year old boy of Hanover, uttered these words on Sunday morning as he waded toward the middle of the Conewago to pose for a picture that his father was about to take from the bank.

An instant later the youth was seized with cramp and sank below the surface. Twenty five minutes later his lifeless body was pulled from the stream by a number of men who had been called to the scene by shrieks of help from the frantic father.

Sunday morning Henry and his father had left Hanover for Dicks' Woods, along the Conewago, which is the most popular water resort in this section of the state. Arriving there shortly before 10:00 o'clock the young boy expressed a desire to go in for a swim and in a few minutes proceeded to don a bathing suit and walk into the water.

In the meantime his father got out a camera and stood along the bank preparatory to taking a picture of his son in the creek.

Upon seeing his son sink the father, according to the story he told the county coroner, immediately jumped into the water, swam out from the shore, and dived. Neither his first, second, third nor fourth dives, however, succeeded in locating the body of the boy.

Being unaccustomed to such violent exercise Harry Abel became exhausted after the fourth dive and started calling for help. By reason of absence of cottages at that particular portion of the creek there was no one present to witness the drowning except the father but the calls for assistance soon attracted a number of persons.

Some of the campers organized and outfitted themselves with a rake tied to a large pole which they used to drag the creek bottom until they recovered the body of the boy.

For two hours and a half two physicians worked over the body assisted by friends in a vain attempt to resuscitate him. When all efforts had failed, Dr. Chester G. Crist, Adams county coroner, was summoned and decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Later the father was brought to his home by Fred W. Weber, of Hanover, to break the news to the mother while the body was conveyed to the home in the closed car of L. H. Alwine, Spring Grove, where it was taken in charge by Undertaker George E. Thomas and prepared for burial.

The accident cast a pall of sorrow over the community, for the boy who was a Scout, a musician, and a member of the Junior class of the Hanover High School, was extremely well liked by all who knew him.

He is survived by his parents, and an only sister, Alice, a graduate of the Hanover High School, class of 1920.

Funeral services Wednesday at 2:00 o'clock conducted by Rev. A. S. Dechant, Lutheran pastor of Hanover. Interment at Mount Olivet cemetery.

DETOURS FAIL TO KEEP AWAY CROWD

Hotel Owners, Garage Men, and Guides Have Big Day.

JAMMED FULL SATURDAY

Hostelries Forced to Send Overflow to Boarding Houses. Lack of Attraction Causes Departure.

Despite the fact that nearly all roads into Gettysburg are surrounded with detours and that the town is supposed to be obsolete from tourists this season, there were more people here on Sunday than on any Fourth of July in many years. People thronged here from all directions, taking advantage of the fact that the Fourth fell on a Sunday and was actually celebrated Monday, giving them three days to spend away from home instead of one under ordinary circumstances.

On Saturday the hotels were crowded to capacity by 7:00 o'clock after which late arrivals flocked to boarding and private houses. These houses in turn filled up a short time later and by nine o'clock it was practically impossible to get a room in town. According to the various hotel managers, three hundred and seventy five people were taken care of at the Eagle Hotel and an overflow crowd of fifty sent to the Lincoln Highway Inn on the Chambersburg Pike. The Gettysburg Hotel accommodated two hundred and twenty five that night besides placing a hundred and fifty others in other hotels and boarding houses. The Hoffman House had one hundred and twenty five in their hostelry and secured accommodations for seventy five others at private houses. The City Hotel's register contained one hundred names for lodging that night. Many of the restaurants and hotels were compelled to close their dining rooms early on account of having been "eaten out."

The garages were continually busy from Saturday to Monday inclusive. George Eberhart said that he had more strange cars in his garage on Saturday night than at any time before. His statement was corroborated by other garage owners.

The guides did a banner business on Saturday, Sunday and Monday. They were in great demand and no sooner got off one car than another tourist was ready to hire them to go out again. Several of the guides made five full trips. The visitors who arrived by train experienced difficulty in getting cars to take them around the battlefield. Many of the drivers took loads to Pen Mar and other places for the day and the few that remained in Gettysburg for battlefield hauling had a big day.

Early Monday afternoon, however, the crowd commenced to depart for Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and other cities because they had been informed that no firework display or patriotic services would take place in Gettysburg during the evening. If a celebration consisting of a firework display and patriotic address had been arranged for Monday night, local hotel men and guides believe the majority of persons would have stayed here longer.

SCOOP FOR THE TIMES

Because Governor James M. Cox, of Ohio, was not nominated at San Francisco until 1:40 o'clock this morning which is 4:40 o'clock in Gettysburg THE TIMES was able to scoop all the Philadelphia dailies.

By telephonic communication with Chambersburg THE TIMES learned of the nomination of Mr. Cox early in the morning and ran not only the story of the nomination but a picture of the nominee and a complete account of his life in the Morning Edition which goes out over the rural routes.

Corroboration of the report from Chambersburg was received from the Associated Press at 8:30 o'clock.

STATE TROOPERS BREAK UP GANG

Arrest Three Alleged Thieves in Blue Ridge District.

ONE IS STILL IN HIDING

Corporal Dixon And Private Mollinkof Conducted All Night Search. Stole From Many Persons.

To prove conclusively to the people of southern Pennsylvania that they are here to enforce the law in every particular, the five state policemen stationed at Gettysburg conducted another week-end of activity and succeeded in arresting three alleged members of a notorious gang of Blue Ridge Mountain thieves, and in frightening the inhabitants of Beartown, a Blue Ridge hamlet, into telling them the likely whereabouts of the fourth member of the gang.

The Blue Ridge Mountain arrests were the results of several days' investigation by Corporal John Dixon, who is in charge of this station, and Private Samuel Mollinkof.

During the early part of last week the local troopers received word that thieves had entered the house of Dr. Barr Snively and stolen a bridle, harness, and all his feed and that a few days later had taken canned fruit and food from Mrs. J. B. Gibbons, chickens from a man named Kendel, cheese from John Shockey, a storekeeper of Beartown, a little hamlet near Blue Ridge Summit, and spark plugs and a tire gauge from Mrs. Manifee.

These four petty thefts, however, were only a few of the many that have annoyed the residents of that section for many months.

After working four days to ascertain the probable thieves, Corporal Dixon and Private Mollinkof swooped down upon the village of Beartown and arrested Clarence Crilly, Paul Crilly, and Ira Richards, all young men ranging from twenty to twenty four years of age.

Samuel Shockey, another alleged member of the gang, managed to make his escape and is still at large in the mountains.

The three young men who had been arrested were taken to Waynesboro and handed over to the custody of authorities there.

Troopers Dixon and Mollinkof then returned to Beartown and induced one of the inhabitants into telling them in what part of the mountains Shockey was hiding. An all-night search for the missing man proved fruitless, however, although the two troopers maintained a vigilant watch and even went into the bed rooms of the sleeping Beartown people in their efforts to apprehend the alleged thief.

CONVENTION FINALLY LANDSLIDES AND NOMINATES GOVERNOR COX

Definite Turn Comes on Thirty Eighth Ballot When Attorney General Palmer Withdraws From Race.

DELEGATES THEN MAKE SELECTION UNANIMOUS

Great Hall Scene of Wild Enthusiasm as Cox Supporters Climb Chairs and Lead Yells. Democratic Nominee, Likq Harding, is a Resident of Ohio and a Newspaper Man.

James Middleton Cox, governor of Ohio, was nominated for president of the United States on the forty fourth ballot according to word received by THE TIMES this morning.

The nomination of Governor Cox came after one of the hardest fights in the history of the Democratic party among Cox, William G. McAdoo, and A. Mitchell Palmer.

Word of the nomination of Cox did not reach this section of the country until 5:00 o'clock a. m.

Life Sketch of Cox

James Middleton Cox was three times governor of Ohio—an honor enjoyed by only one other Ohioan, Rutherford B. Hayes.

Born on a farm, educated in the public schools, a printer's devil, a school teacher, a newspaper reporter, a private secretary to a congressman, owner, manager and proprietor of two newspapers, member of congress for three years and three times governor of his state is his record to date.

Business success paralleled his political achievements and through his own efforts Cox has amassed a fortune. Mr. Cox became the leader of the Democratic party in Ohio in 1912 when he was nominated for governor. As one who had brought radical changes in the state constitution, he took the field in its behalf. His first term as governor was devoted chiefly to forwarding the enactment of laws to put the new state constitution into effect.

But Ohio evidently was not prepared to assimilate all the new laws for Cox was defeated for re-election. But his party renominated him in 1916 and he was re-elected for a third term in 1918, being the only Democrat to win in Ohio.

Legislation for which Governor Cox is best known includes a model workmen's compensation law and a child labor law which have been extensively copied by other states. Educators of the country say the Ohio school code, enacted under Governor Cox's direction, will live as a monument to his achievements.

Mr. Cox was born in Butler county, Ohio, in 1870. He attended district school and held his first position as a teacher of the school in which he took his first lessons. He spent evenings and holidays in a printing office. In a few years he received his first assignment on the reportorial staff of

THREE THOUSAND AT YORK SPRINGS

Racing Matinee, Music, And Ball Game Proved Big Attraction.

Over three thousand people wended their way to York Springs from many sections of southeastern Pennsylvania on Monday to attend the horse racing matinee at Griest's Park.

Despite the enormous crowd and fact that approximately five hundred automobiles were traveling the roads, not one accident was reported.

Although the horse races, promoted by Charles Griest, of York Springs, were the main attraction of the day there was also music in front of the grand stand by a Hanover jazz orchestra, a performance by Professor Brown's educated horses, and selections by the York Springs band to help entertain the crowd.

Early in the afternoon a ball game was played between York Springs and Uria which resulted in a 6-1 victory for the home club.

At the conclusion of the races a large portion of the crowd remained to attend the band concert and festival.

C. I. Snyder, of Granite, was starting judge of the races; H. V. Rupp, of Carlisle, timer; Fred McCanmon and Charles Tate, of Gettysburg, judges; and Dr. C. L. Myers, York Springs, secretary.

The next matinee will be held on Labor Day.

MONDAY HOLIDAY IN GETTYSBURG

Celebrate Independence Day By Ball Games, Races, And Picnics.

EVENTS AT PLAYGROUND

Attract Nearly One Fifth of Population. York Springs And Pen Mar Other Drawing Cards.

Monday was a holiday in the full sense of the word for almost all Gettysburgians. With the exception of a few whose business demanded their attention, the whole populace took the day off.

The special train to Pen Mar which left in the morning added about one hundred and sixty three local people to the approximately eight hundred from York and three hundred from Hanover. Pen Mar was one of the biggest attractions. Many went for a day's picnicking and to see the firework display in the evening. The special returned to Gettysburg about 8:30 p. m.

The York Springs races also were the cause of attracting some two hundred Gettysburg citizens to that end of the county.

Fishing, camping and picnicking in the mountains satisfied the holiday spirit of many more people.

For those who were unable to leave town plenty of amusement and entertainment was prepared. In the morning the Independents played to two hundred and sixty five fans and in the afternoon to two hundred and eighteen.

The biggest local attraction was the events at the Playground in the evening, when the biggest crowd of the year attended the field events for the children and the community sing. It is estimated that eight hundred and fifty people were present during the evening.

The athletic plays were under the direction of Philip Brown, director of athletics at the playground. Miss Aagot Borge led the community sing, which considering all facts concerned, was a success. Accompaniments were played by the band which between the singing, played a number of selections. The list of events and their winners are as follows:

Sack Race. First, John Mickle; Second, Wendell Rudisill; Third, Edward Utz.

Rope Ring Relay Race. First, John Menchey; Second, John Mickle; Third, Edward Utz; Fourth, James Tate.

Shoe Race. First, John Mickle; Second, Howard Moore; Third, Fred Tate; Fourth, Robert Codori. This

STOCK REPORT

(By Associated Press) New York, July 6.—The stock market broadened and strengthened during the morning session today the turn over of the first two hours exceeding that of the past fortnight. Independent steels, motors, specialties and tobaccos recorded extreme gains of one to four points. Conspicuous features included Crucible, Vandalia, Stromburg carburetors, United States rubbers and several allied specialties. Rails were the only standard issues to show no appreciable gain.

CORN TAKES A DROP

(By Associated Press) Chicago, July 6.—An unusually sharp down turn took place today in the value of corn and provisions. Under heavy selling measure September and December delivery of corn dropped respectively five cents and eight and one half cents from Saturday's close. September touched $1.57½ and December $1.43½. Big receipts and good crop conditions were chief reasons given.

Huge stocks of provisions brought about a decline of about $1.00 a barrel for pork and $1.00 cwt. for lard.

PERSHING GIVEN SWORD BY BRITAIN

Presentation Made by Sir Auckland Geddes in Washington.

PAYS TRIBUTE TO A. E. F.

Ceremony Was Scheduled to Have Taken Place in London Year Ago. Many Notables Present.

Washington, July 6.—By the presentation of a beautiful jeweled, gold-hilted sword to General John J. Pershing Monday in honor of the nation's birthday, the British Empire, through the lips of its Ambassador at Washington, paid tribute to all the men of the A. E. F. whom Pershing commanded abroad.

"It is not the custom of the British nation to forget those who prove themselves its friends in hours of need," said Sir Auckland Geddes, the British Ambassador, in making the presentation to the general.

In Honor of Men Also
"We have not forgotten, we shall not forget, that there came under your command to Europe a great company of gallant men, sons of this free land. So that you and that they may realize our remembrance there has been inscribed upon the blade of this sword a legend that it commemorates the services of all who trained and marched and fought under your command, as well as your own great achievements."

The stage setting for the presentation was picturesque in the extreme. Sir Auckland Geddes, for the first time since his arrival in the United States, was attired in ambassadorial full dress of dark blue and heavy gold braid, with the white-plumed, three-cornered hat of diplomatic usage, to match, a court sword at his side, and wearing the decorations he gained in the Boer war and in the great war, as well as the Order of the Bath, his order of knighthood.

Grayson Represents Wilson
Rear-Admiral Cary T. Grayson represented President Wilson at the ceremony, and among the distinguished audience were Secretary of War Baker, Admiral Kootz, Acting Secretary of the Navy, and Brig. Gen. William G. Hahn, chief of the war plans division of the General Staff, who commanded the Thirty-Second Division of Michigan and Wisconsin troops under Pershing in France.

Escorted by Colonel Thorne, assistant military attaché of the British Embassy, who was attired in the bright red and gold braid peace-time uniform of the Grenadier Guards, General Pershing, clad in his simple service olive drab uniform and wearing no decorations, save the ribbon of the American Distinguished Service medal, advanced to meet the Ambassador.

"General Pershing," said Sir Auckland, "today your nation celebrates the winning of its independence from an autocratic government by the spirit of individual freedom and liberty as in many lands. In the days of America's birth pangs there were many on both sides of the Atlantic, more perhaps in actual numbers on the other side than this, who thought the action of the framers of your Constitution right. But we must also remember that there were also many on both sides of the Atlantic who thought their action wrong. There is none now, I believe, on either side of the Atlantic who does not think that they were right."

"You are American, we are British. Two peoples who draw their language and the foundations of their institutions from the England of Elizabeth. Slowly, painfully, our peoples, moving on parallel paths, have enlarged the boundaries of freedom until it has come to be our most prized heritage."

HARDING GIVEN HOME WELCOME

Opposes One Man Government in Brief Speech at Marion.

Marion, July 5.—Marion on Monday paid tribute to Senator Harding, the Republican candidate for the Presidency, upon his return, accompanied by Mrs. Harding, to his home here from Washington for the first time since his nomination. It was a big day for the little Ohio city and one that will go down in its history.

The celebration began early in the day and lasted until last night, when in the presence of a crowd of home folk that filled the spacious lawn of the Harding residence and overflowed to the opposite side of the street, Senator Harding was officially welcomed by Dr. Chissinger, president of the Marion Civic Association. The Senator replied in a brief speech in which he opposed one-man Government and urged the restoration of normal conditions as a stepping force for civilization which he said has been "fevered by the supreme upheaval of all the world."

"Let me say to you, friends and neighbors," said the Republican nominee, "If I believed in one-man Government, if I believed the superman were necessary to appeal to the sober sense of the republic and ask our people to plant their feet in secure and forward paths once more, I would not be here in the capacity which has inspired your greeting."

"Let us pledge ourselves anew, one and all, that this heritage handed to us through the heroism and sacrifices of the founding fathers shall be held sacred, unbridled and undimmed, and American nationality shall be the inspiration of the myriads of Americans of the future, even as it stirs our hearts today."

UNEARTH BODY OF SUICIDE

Workmen Buried Bones of Fred Eicholtz. Found Eighty Years.

The bones of a man believed to be Fred Eicholtz, who committed suicide about eighty years ago, were unearthed recently by workmen employed in a quarry located on the road to Bender's church near the Boyer rake factory between Gettysburg and Biglerville.

Several workmen were working under the direction of Edward Dicks, foreman, when George Steinberger, who lives near Goldenville, discovered the remains.

Word was sent to Dr. Chester G. Crist, Adams county coroner, that "a dead man had been discovered" and the physician went immediately to the scene accompanied by State Constable Cahn.

After examining the bones and skull of the dead man which still contained hair, the coroner ordered the remains buried in Potter's field. The burial was made on Saturday.

Three quarters of a century ago Fred Eicholtz owned land near the spot now occupied by the Boyer rake factory. After getting the worst of a trade of farms, the story goes, Eicholtz committed suicide and his body was buried on land now known as Hollebaugh property.

Although no one could make positive identification it is generally believed that the unearthed body was that of the suicide.

WOMEN MOB THEIR RIVALS

Drive Two Carnival Dances Out of Town.

Media, Pa., July 6.—A carnival to which was attached a side show almost caused a riot here when a number of young women of the town found that the side show which was attracting several hundred swains under its tent at 50 cents apiece consisted of fancy dancing by two young women, clad—or rather unclad—in very sparse costumes.

The applause of the male audience was so noisy that it attracted some of the local young women to the scene. What they saw so shocked them that they promptly cut the ropes and pulled down the tent on both dances and patrons. Those caught under the canvas became so entangled that it required several minutes for them to extricate themselves.

The dancers, after getting out, sought refuge in the tent of a fortune teller, and this tent likewise was rushed by the Media women and a few young men. Escaping a second time, the dancers boarded an automobile, which was bombarded with stones as it hurried from the scene.

HARDING CONGRATULATES

(By Associated Press)

Columbus, Ohio, July 6.—A congratulatory telegram received at the governor's office here today from Senator Harding, the Republican nominee, says:

"I recall a much remarked cartoon which portrayed you and me as newsboys contesting for the White House delivery. It seems to have been prophesied. As an Ohioan and fellow publisher I congratulate you and your noted victory."

BOY KILLS FATHER IN HOLIDAY ROW

Fifteen Year Old Lad Shoots Parent With Rifle Near Doylestown.

MOTHER WITNESSES CRIME

Husband About to Strike Her With Chair When Son Fired Rifle, She Says.

Doylestown, Pa., July 6.—A family quarrel Monday morning on a little farm at Maceville, a few miles from Doylestown, came to a sudden end when 15-year-old Edward R. Turner shot and fatally wounded his father, Edward G. Turner. The senior Turner, who was 45 years old, died within 10 minutes after his breast had been pierced by a rifle bullet fired by the boy.

Three hours after the shooting the youth was taken into custody when he calmly walked into the house and greeted a physician who had been called earlier in the day to minister to the wounded parent. The boy acknowledged the shooting and was taken to Doylestown and locked up in the Bucks county jail to await the result of a coroner's inquest.

Both the boy and his mother disappeared following the shooting, which occurred at 9 o'clock. An hour later several physicians and a Doylestown hospital received anonymous telephone messages stating that a man had been shot at the farmhouse at Maceville. Dr. Wilken, of Doylestown, was one of the physicians who responded to the call, and when he arrived at the farmhouse he found the body of Turner on the kitchen floor. He had been dead for some time, the physician said.

Unconcerned Surrenders

Dr. Wilken searched the premises, but could find no trace of other members of the household. Meanwhile, he sent word of the shooting to D. A. Keller, a Bucks county detective, and was waiting for the arrival of the detective when the youthful Turner and his mother sauntered up the garden walk and entered the house. The boy was apparently undisturbed by the tragedy and readily acknowledged the killing.

Behind the shooting, according to the stories of both the boy and his mother, was the unwillingness of Turner to have his wife give the son money for the holiday. Mrs. Turner told the detectives her husband remonstrated strenuously against giving the boy a few cents, and threatened her with a chair.

The argument over the money waxed warm, and when Turner, the woman said, picked up a chair and threatened to use it over her head, the boy rushed to an adjoining room, seized a rifle, returned, and sent a bullet into his father's chest. Turner collapsed, and the boy and his mother left the house. Later, Mrs. Turner said, she sent the telephone calls for the physicians.

The Turner family moved to the Maceville farm three months ago from New Jersey.

An autopsy was performed by Dr. Wilken, of Grand View Hospital, and a jury empaneled by Coroner James. The inquest will be held today.

Say Father Threatened to Kill All

Investigation by the police Monday afternoon revealed that the shooting came as a climax to a long series of quarrels between Turner and his wife and other members of his family. It was said that before the shooting Monday morning he threatened to kill his wife and their three children.

On several occasions he had assaulted his wife and children, the detectives were told, and as a general rule managed to keep the family in a state of terror.

Contrary to earlier reports, the police asserted, the boy seldom gave the father any trouble. For several months he worked at a steel mill in Sellersville, quitting the job in the early spring, that he might help his father on the farm. Turner and his wife quarreled Sunday night, it was said, and the altercation was continued Monday morning, when he threatened to kill the boy with a revolver.

Mrs. Turner, who was in Doylestown last night, strongly sided with her son. She told the police she had been frequently beaten by her husband, and also declared he was in the habit of manhandling the boy.

On the 42nd ballot the accession of most of the Palmer strength to Cox put him well ahead and afterward great and little state delegations went into the Cox column in a procession. On the 43d he got a majority for the first time of all the votes cast and on the 44th he was plunging toward the required two thirds when Colorado gave his vote to him and made the nomination obvious.

The 43d roll call began in a riot of noise that made the roll audible only as the surges of sound paused to let the figures reach the clerk. Little by little the drift to the Cox column continued gaining.

"Get into the wagon," roared a man in the gallery and the Cox rosters took it up. Votes for other candidates than Cox or McAdoo brought yells of "Come out of it" and "Wake up."

In the New York delegation a challenge for a poll sent a dozen men scurrying to argue with the challenger. He was the center of a fire of argument and abjection he could not resist. Finally after a new move by McAdoo supporters to adjourn in a last desperate to stave off defeat had been roared down the last ballot, the 44th, began.

The result was forecast with the first vote. Alabama swung solid to Cox. State by state delegation who had stuck for McAdoo with divided delegation followed suit. The slide had set in and there was no stopping it. The convention had its mind set to nominate on that ballot. Up and up mounted the Ohioan's total of votes. As it passed the 700 mark with the necessary two thirds just ahead the tumult increased minute by minute until the last ballots were heard only on the platform. Pennsylvania went over and the Colorado leader leaped to his chair to change his vote to Cox. Half a dozen others waved for recognition.

Chairman Robinson hurried to his desk with Sam Abidon, of Kansas, a McAdoo chief, whom he presented only after a furious assault, with the gavel for a partial lull in the cheering. Through a continued racket Mr. Abidon asked for a unanimous vote.

All over the great hall men climbed up on chairs to wave their arms for silence and to stand then poised like college yell leaders to signal the answer to the question. Pounding his gavel, Chairman Robinson shouted out the question and the answer came back at him with all the volume of a thousand voices thundering a mighty "Aye."

In the great chorus of acclamation the 44th ballot was put away as unnecessary. Many of the changes which had been made as the vote was carried through never were recorded and on the face of that ballot Cox received officially 702½ votes but they were never totaled as he was nominated by the unanimous vote of the convention.

The nomination of Cox means that the two great parties not only have gone into the same state for their candidates but have picked men who for years have been associated more or less closely in the same profession. Like Harding, Governor Cox is a newspaperman and their home towns in Ohio are not far apart.

Product of Ohio

The democracy of Ohio, the home state of the republican presidential nominee, urged the national convention to select Governor James M. Cox as the democratic candidate for President.

"With Cox as your candidate, Ohio is democratic, and with Ohio democratic, victory is yours," declared Judge James G. Johnson, of Springfield, Ohio, in formally presenting Governor Cox's name.

"The election this year will fix the ticket who was elected and he is status of America for a generation," said Judge Johnson. "Not only will it decide whether we shall take our rightful place at the very head of the nations in a united effort for civilization, or shall lapse into sullen ostracism in the face of opportunities for service to humanity which no people ever had; but it will also decide whether the domestic progress and vast productive energies of this continent shall be turned back into reactionary channels after a period of splendid achievement in Democratic administration."

"The Democratic Party needs a candidate who holds in his heart the memory of the glorious record of the incomparable American boy and who looks forward with courage and capacity to grasp the opportunities and to meet the difficulties and dangers yet to come. He must know the beginnings and the reasons for the Republic. He must know its spirit; and the spirit of the wise men who founded it. He must know that Americanization is not an idle ceremony, that it is not a thing to be gained in a day, or a year, but that it is the result of the slow processes of education and of the influence of association and contact with those who have enjoyed and appreciate what enlightened liberty is."

"The great State, of which I have spoken, presents a man who has these qualities in full and rounded measure. His strength is not the passing fancy of a mere lucky turn on the political board. It is the solid strength and power that is slowly fixed in the judgment of the people after actual performance and service."

"His friends do not generalize, they specify. For eight years he has been under the searchlight in our state. In each of the years new problems were met, new difficulties encountered, new demands made upon his tireless industry and upon the resources of his leadership and statesmanship. He has constantly grown with the severity of the test. At every crisis and at every new trial, he has developed a splendid reserve force and capacity. All saw and admired the resolute stand he took for the impartial enforcement of the law. He demanded of every subordinate executive officer in every county and in every municipality the same unquestioning observance of equal and exact justice. His spirit was so high and his sense of fairness so even and manifest that no soldier was ever needed to march between capital and labor."

"Recognizing the right of every man to his opinion on every proposed public measure, after the discussion was over and the judgment of the people had been written into the law of the State, he has, with the same cool and deliberate hand, enforced that law. No sincere, well-informed citizen of Ohio, has denied that proposition. This has been, and will be, his position to the end."

"When our country entered the war, our Governor, with invincible enthusiasm and untiring energy stepped to his rightful place as the leader in organizing our contribution to the man-power of the army, the great productive energies of our mines, our factories and our farms. Backed by the best men and best women, without regard to party, he disclosed a capacity for leadership in that sacred cause which placed him at the very front among the great American War Governors."

"The expenses of his campaign are met from the small and voluntary contributions of those who know him best. He is bound by no express or implied obligations to any class or interest."

"For a half century Ohio was nominally Republican, but three times this man has been elected Governor of the Buckeye State. The last time he was the only man on the Democratic ticket who was elected and he is stronger now. I doubt if there are many instances in which a chief executive has made the sure and steady advance in the confidence and esteem and ripened judgment of his fellow-citizens of all classes that this man has made in Ohio. His real genius for executive duty and his record of accomplishment, has increased his popularity and strength far beyond the power of our opponents to overcome, however huge the campaign fund may be."

Times Got Each Ballot

At 9:28 o'clock Monday night THE TIMES received a telegram from the Associated Press, at Washington, which read, "Thirty sixth ballot McAdoo 399; Cox 377; Palmer 241; Davis 28. The convention then recessed until 8:30 o'clock San Francisco time."

This word over the wire indicated, of course, that up to that hour the Democrats at their national convention at San Francisco had still failed to come to a decision regarding their selection for a presidential nominee.

William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, Governor Cox, of Ohio, and A. Mitchell Palmer, continued to be running in the order named with no sign of a slide toward either of them.

The first ballot received by THE TIMES on Monday was the twenty seventh. It read "McAdoo 371½; Cox 423½; Palmer 166½; Davis 60½; Owen 34."

Between the twenty seventh and thirty fifth, McAdoo continued to gain steadily as this was the report on the thirty fifth: "McAdoo 409; Cox 376; Palmer 222; Davis 34; Tennessee switched to Palmer with 24 votes."

Late Saturday evening and during Monday afternoon and evening THE TIMES bulletin board was the scene of a gathering of men from all parts of the town and county who were anxious to hear the latest reports of the proceedings at San Francisco.

After the news spread on Saturday night that the convention had adjourned until Monday many local prophets ventured to give their opinions of the winner. As Cox was leading on the last ballot received Saturday night he was, of course, the favorite and the majority of Gettysburg Democrats thought it would be only a question of time until he was nominated.

John W. Davis, of Virginia, also had many local backers but William G. McAdoo, strange to say, had few open advocates even after he had passed Cox on the thirtieth ballot.

EUGENE AMOS SHANK

Infant Son Died While Visiting Grandparents.

Eugene Amos Shank, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Dorie Shank, of Hanover, died at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Gochenour, at Aspers, at 4:15 o'clock this morning, aged 9 months and 15 days.

The family had gone on a visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Gochenour, at Aspers, and the child became ill Saturday and died this morning.

Besides his parents he leaves a brother, Daniel Allen Shank, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Gochenour, of Aspers, and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Shank, of York Springs.

Funeral Thursday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at the home of his grandparents at Aspers. Services and interment at Rock Chapel conducted by Rev. A. J. Martin.

New Hair Growth After BALDNESS

On legal affidavit, John Hart Brittain, business man, certified to this: "My head at the top and back was absolutely bald. The scalp was shiny. An expert said that he thought the hair roots were extinct, and there was no hope of my ever having a new hair growth. Yet now, at an age over 60, I have a luxuriant growth of soft, strong, lustrous hair! No trace of baldness. The pictures show here are from my photographs." Mr. Brittain certified further:

"At a time when I had become discouraged at trying various hair lotions, tonics, specialists' treatments, etc., I came across, in my travels, a Cherokee Indian 'medicine man' who had an elixir that he asserted would grow my hair. Although I had but little faith, I gave it a trial. To my amazement a light first soon appeared. It developed, day by day, into a healthy growth, and ere long my hair was as profuse as in my youthful days. That I was astonished and happy is expressing my state of mind mildly. Obviously, the hair roots had not been dead, but were dormant in the scalp, awaiting the fertilizing potency of the mysterious pomade. I negotiated for and came into possession of the principle for preparing this mysterious elixir, now called Kotalko, and later had the recipe put into practical form by a chemist. That my own hair growth was permanent has been amply proved."

How YOU May Grow YOUR Hair

It has been proved in very many cases that hair roots do not die even when the hair fell out through dandruff, itching, scald, etc. or other hair or scalp disorders. Miss A. D. Otto reports: "About 8 years ago my hair began to fall out until my scalp in spots was almost entirely bald. I used everything that was recommended but was always disappointed until at last I came across Kotalko. My bald spots are being covered now; the growth is already about three inches." G. W. Mitchell reports: "I had spots completely bald, over which hair is now growing since I used Kotalko." Mrs. Matilda Maxwell reports: "The whole front of my head was bald as the palm of my hand for about 15 years. Since using Kotalko, hair is growing all over the place that was bald." Many more splendid reports from satisfied users.

KOTALKO contains GENUINE BEAR OIL and other potent ingredients. No alcohol, no shampoo, but a hair elixir of wonderful efficacy. Buy a box of KOTALKO at the drug store. Remember the name, accept nothing else as "just as good." $3.00 GUARANTEE. Or if you send 10 cents (silver or stamps) for new Book on Beautiful Healthy Hair, you will receive a PROOF BOX of Kotalko FREE, postpaid. ## SPORTING COLUMN

INDIES WON TWO OUT OF THREE

Beat Carlisle And Split Even With Lemoyne.

A total of approximately seven hundred and fifty people witnessed the three week-end games of the Gettysburg Independents who won from Carlisle 2-1 Saturday afternoon in a splendidly played contest and split even with Lemoyne on Monday in two miserably played games. Scores 10-3 and 6-7.

The Saturday contest was a snappy one that consumed only one hour and thirty five minutes playing time.

Frank Hart, the burly twirler of the Carlisle nine who wore a Gettysburg uniform in 1914, was a conspicuous figure as usual, not only doing the hurrying for his nine but also banging out the hit in the first inning which drove across their only run.

In the second inning, with the score 1-0 against them, the Independents won out as the result of a double to left field by Bream and successive hits off the bats of Woodward and Roth.

Neither side failed to tally in the last seven innings although Carlisle got two men on in the ninth and were held down only by the fast work of the Gettysburg infield.

Two base hit—Bream, Hart. Safe hits—Bream, Roth. Stolen base—Minich, Wogan. Struck out by—Menchey 8, Hart 8. Base on balls—off Menchey 1, Hart 1. Wild pitch—Menchey. Hit by pitcher—Cromer, Menchey. Umpire—L. Oyler.

The Monday Games were poorly played by both sides as the total of errors for the day reached thirty.

Sheely gave Lemoyne only four hits during the morning and won out although his teammates registered seven errors behind him.

The twirling of Ennsweiser, of Lemoyne, featured the afternoon contest.

LEONARD WINS BY K. O.

Riot At Ringside When Charlie White Is Beaten.

Benny Leonard, lightweight champion of the world, knocked out Charlie White, of Chicago, in the ninth round of the scheduled 10-round championship fight before a capacity crowd at Benton Harbor, Michigan, on Monday.

White carried the fighting to the champion for seven rounds and a half, knocking and pushing the New Yorker through the ropes in the fifth round.

There was a riot when the fight ended and the spectators scrambled over the seats and into the ring, breaking down the press section and injuring several ringsiders. None was seriously hurt.

GROVES WINS AGAIN

In his second appearance in the International League on Saturday

"Lefty" Groves, former Blue Ridge hurler, easily defeated Reading, 8-1. Baltimore made thirteen hits and Reading seven.

NEW OXFORD DIVIDES

Wins First But Loses Second to Mount Rose.

The New Oxford team split even in a holiday bill with the Mount Rose team from York on Monday. They took the first game by a 14-6 score but dropped the second by a 11-10 margin.

A large crowd witnessed both contests.

BLUE RIDGE LEAGUE

Hanover split even in the holiday games with Waynesboro, losing the morning game by a 4-2 score and winning the afternoon affair 3-2.

Yordy's triple in the eighth with three on won the morning game for Waynesboro, while hits by Byrnes and Roussey with a passed ball by Fitzgerald in the ninth allowed Hanover to break the tie and win the afternoon contest.

Frederick trimmed Martinsburg by a 5-4 score in the morning and then took the afternoon game from Hagerstown by a 2-1 score. The morning game was annexed by a batting rally in the ninth and the afternoon encounter was a pitcher's duel between King and Philips.

Chambersburg was twice defeated on Independence Day. In the morning Hagerstown trimmed them by a 6-0 score. "Chalky" McCleary allowed them but one hit. In the afternoon contest Martinsburg took them in camp by a 4-2 score.

The Fordson Tractor and Your Harvesting

When it comes to harvesting the FORDSON tractor saves a lot of hard, hot work.

You can do your mowing with a FORDSON tractor—and raking, and tedding, and hauling to the barn. The FORDSON tractor will even hoist your hay up to the mow.

And all these things you can do faster and with less man power and less cost when you do them the tractor way.

Come in and see us and talk to us about a FORDSON tractor. You may feel that a tractor is a good thing but that it won't pay on your farm. Don't guess at it. Come in and get facts and figures and find out.

Valuable Timber and Timber Land ON SATURDAY, JULY 17, 1920

The undersigned will offer at public sale, in front of the Court House in Gettysburg, Adams County, Pa., at 1:30 o'clock, P. M., the following:

A tract of timberland containing 43 acres, being a part of the well known Katalysine Springs Hotel property.

This land has never been cleared; the timber consists of Oak and Hickory.

The Timber will be offered separately, and if sold the cleared land will be sold.

This land lies about one mile West of Gettysburg, adjoins lands of Mary C. Bair, Charles F. Redding, Butt's Heirs and is easily accessible by a public road known as the Mill Road.

The attention of timber men and lumber dealers is called to this opportunity.

Never again on the movie stunts

I WATCHED a guy.
IN A movie show.
RIDE THE same plug.
NINE THOUSAND miles.
AND FIRE his six-shooter.
ALL AFTERNOON.
WITHOUT RELOADING.
AND THEN, in a close-up.
HE ROLLED a smoke.
WITH JUST one hand.
AND I tried it myself.
FIRST WITH one hand.
THEN WITH two.
THEN WITH my mouth.
AND THE forty-third trial.
STAYED PUT long enough
FOR ME to light it.
AND I thought I had it.
AND THEN it spilled.
LIKE A Roman candle.
AND BURNED the rug.
AND BURNED my clothes.
AND EVERYTHING.
SO I'M convinced.
I'LL NEVER get.
THAT ACTOR'S job.
AND I know now.
THAT THE only things.
I CAN roll with one hand.
ARE ROLLICKING dominos.
AND I'M going to stick.
TO MY regular smokes.
FOR THEY satisfy.

EVER see a "close-up" of real cigarette contentment? Get next to any Chesterfield smoker, and watch him register "they satisfy!" It's all in the blend of those choice Turkish and Domestic tobaccos—and that's a secret that nobody can imitate.

SAILORS BROKE INTO HOKE HOME

Men Arrested in Twenty Five Minutes By Two Troopers.

Only a few hours after two other members of the state police force had concluded their raid on the village of Beartown, near Blue Ridge Summit, Privates C. A. Crumleigh and M. J. Erford made a lightning like arrest of two sailors who broke into and robbed the house of Harry C. Hoke who lives near the Harrisburg road, a short distance north of Gettysburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoke had been visiting friends in York Springs and upon their return to their home, Sunday evening found that some one had entered, ransacked it, and stolen a pair of auto pliers, two revolvers, old coins, a pocketbook containing between $3.00 and $4.00, gloves, and a knife.

Without waiting an instant Mr. Hoke 'phoned to the City Hotel for Troopers Crumleigh and Erford who jumped into an automobile and raced out the Harrisburg road.

Before reaching the Hoke residence the two troopers came upon Robert Willis, a member of the crew of the destroyer "Ellis", and Walter Freeman from the United States naval training station at Newport.

All of the stolen goods was found upon the persons of the two sailors who were locked in the county jail twenty five minutes after Privates Erford and Crumleigh had received word of the theft.

At a hearing before Squire Hill on Monday morning the two sailors, who are coal passers, entered pleas of guilty and were held for court.

Privates Erford and Crumleigh place the credit of the prompt arrest to Mr. Hoke, who 'phoned to them immediately.

"If the people of Adams county would communicate with us as soon as a crime has been committed," said one of the troopers, "we will have a splendid opportunity to arrest the offenders. Every hour of delay increases the chances of the thief getting away."

Dodge Ball Contest. Team captained by Dorothy Pitzer won.

ENTENTE CHIEFS MEET GERMANS

First Conference Regarding Execution of Treaty is Brief.

Spa, July 6.—There was a brief meeting Monday of the Allied and German delegates, who during the next few days will discuss matters relating to the peace treaty.

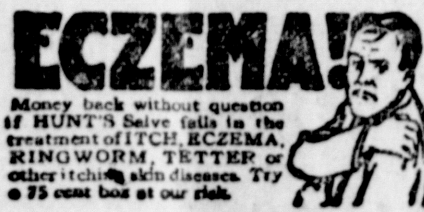

The session was held in the drawing room of the Villa Frainseuse, and the German delegates, Chancellor Fehrenbach, Dr. Walters Simons, the Foreign Minister, and Herr Wirth, Minister of Finance, were seated at the left end of the long horseshoe table, next to the Japanese. There were no introductions or shaking of hands.

The president of the conference, M. Delacroix, the Belgian Premier, arose and immediately opened what is considered to be the most important international event since the armistice by announcing the order of business, which included disarmament, reparations, coal supply, the trial of Germans accused of atrocities and the situation at Danzig.

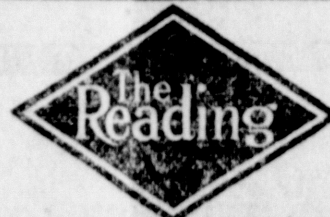

M. Delacroix inquired of Herr Fehrenbach if he desired to make any observations. The Chancellor, speaking German, which was translated by an official interpreter, said: "I desire to say, in behalf of the German Government and of the German people, that we have come here to take part loyally in the discussion of how the treaty of peace can be executed."

Mr. Lloyd George, as senior Premier, thereupon expressed the gratification of the Allied delegates, and Herr Fehrenbach.
